Bottom of the Peanut Butter Jar

We all know what it's like to go through a jar of peanut butter. When it's first opened and new, it's easy to get the peanut butter out. When you get to the bottom of the jar, it becomes increasingly difficult.

You finally reach a point where no matter how much you scrape the sides and bottom of the jar with a knife or spoon, there is still some peanut butter remaining. It's impossible to totally remove every single morsel of peanut butter.

Studying the Bible is much the same way. Early in our Christian lives everything in the Bible is new to us, but the longer we study, we discover there are always some things remaining we have not yet learned. There is always more in the Bible for us to learn no matter how long we have been studying the Bible.

Keep scraping the bottom of the jar. You can always get a little more.

Your Sin Will Find You Out

This morning our clocks were turned back one hour. Many commented to the effect that we received a free hour of sleep that night. We did have an extra hour with which to sleep, but it was not free. We will make up for it the first Sunday of next April when our clocks are moved ahead one hour thus paying for our “free” hour this morning.

Many people feel the same way concerning sin. They engage in riotous living, see no immediate consequences, and thus feel their sins are free. After a while, some may even feel that the Lord just forgets sins as those sins fade in our memories. If sins are not forgiven, they are as fresh on our record as the day they were committed.

We need to realize our sins are not free of adverse results. It may take months or even years, but of a certainty, we will see the result of a sinful life. Note the words of Numbers 32:23, “. . . and be sure your sin will find you out.”
